BOOKING YOUR wedding day

We extend a warm welcome for all couples to visit us so you can view and get a personal feel for the venue.

One of our dedicated wedding co-ordinators will meet with you to discuss your dream day, we will then create a bespoke package unique to your requirements.

Once you have chosen your wedding date, you may provisionally reserve this date for up to 21 days without obligation. This gives you an opportunity to co-ordinate with your band, photographer, videographer, and any other important aspects of your day.

To secure your date, a non-refundable deposit of £1,000 is required, this will be deducted from your wedding account. We also require a signed copy of the booking confirmation and contract agreement.

On receipt of these, we will write to you with confirmation of your date and a rooming list if required. Six weeks before your wedding day 50% of your estimated wedding account is payable and then the remaining balance of your estimated wedding account is due two weeks before your date.

We require an update of guests attending your wedding four weeks before and then the final number of guests two weeks before. Any reductions to this number after this are charged at full price.

Approximately four months before your special day we will be in contact to arrange a consultation to go through the finer details. We will work with you to create a bespoke detail sheet unique to your special day, this will then be sent to you for your approval.

At The Banff Springs we understand that planning your wedding is an exciting yet nerve-wracking time. Our wedding co-ordinators are on hand to guide you through the wedding planning process and are only a call or visit away.

You may wish to show family and friends around the venue, all we ask is that you book an appointment to ensure the rooms you wish to view are available.

Exclusively Yours

Our exclusive package allows you and your guests exclusive use of the hotel on your special day. For more information on this package please ask your wedding co-ordinator.

PLANNING YOUR wedding day

When planning a wedding, the possibilities are endless and often the process can be quite overwhelming.

To assist you with planning your day, we have put together some information. We hope you find it useful but most importantly, remember this is your wedding and you make the rules – anything can go!

Toasts & Speeches

More and more couples are choosing to have their speeches before the meal, they would normally follow as: The bride's father (or family friend) proposes a toast to the happy couple. The groom then replies, who thanks both sets of parents and the guests, followed by a toast to the bridesmaid. The best man replies on behalf of the bridesmaids.

Cutting the Cake

The cutting of the cake can take place at any point during the wedding meal, before, during or after. If the cake is to be served with your evening buffet, it can also be done before your evening dance begins to allow evening guests to witness this special part of your day.
